PROSPERITY'S CHRISTMAS GIFT TO FLOURISHING HOPKINSVILLE.

List of Improvements for 1894. A Total that Shows What We are Doing—No Sign of a Panic in This Exhibit—Prospects for Still Greater Solid Growth Next Year—Figures that do no Lie.

It is no idle boast to say that Hopkinsville is to day the most prosperous inland city in Kentucky. It has continued to grow right along, one year after another, and this year it has shown a more substantial growth than any city in the state. We do not claim to have a boom, but it is solid, permanent improvement, which if kept up for five years longer will put Hopkinsville in the front rank of the third class cities of the state.

Facts and figures do not lie and the array of statistics below bear out the claim that Hopkinsville is constantly and rapidly growing in wealth, population and importance. The list of buildings here given is by no means complete, but the improvements noted aggregate the handsome total of over $200,000 for the year.

Telephone Company, improvements to plant

W. T. Cooper, private water works plant

Minor improvements not included in above list

$208,000.

That this list representing more than $200,000 of improvements is not an exceptional showing is evidenced by the improvements on foot for another year, which will exceed those of 1894.

The addition to the Western Insane Asylum, the contract for which has been let to Forbes & Bro., while not in the city limits, should be included in the local improvements, since the asylum is really a part of Hopkinsville. This will represent an expenditure of $65,000.

The water works plant also under contract, will bring to the city the investment of capital to the value of $30,000.

Forbes & Bro. will build a block of brick business houses on Main, between 10th and 11th streets, adjoining their hardware store.

Ragsdale, Cooper & Co. are planning to erect a block of brick business

CREAM OF NEWS.

POST YOURSELF BY READING WHAT HAS HAPPENED.

Early Christmas Fights—Chicken Thieves Rob President Fyke—Incident in a Saw-Mill—Inherited a Fortune—Fires and Follies—Romantic Marriage.

Inherited a Primely Fortune.

By the death of a bachelor relative named Henderson, in London, England, Mrs. David Clark, of Henderson, Ky., has inherited a vast fortune. All of Mr. Henderson's immense estate, except a few special bequests, was left to five cousins, Mrs. David Clark and Mrs. James Clark, the latter of Louisville, being two of them. The old gentlemen died Dec. 2 and the two ladies who live in this State have just been informed of their good fortune and they will leave this week for London to look after the settlement of the estate. The exact amount is not known, but the estate is supposed to be worth $3,000,000. It is expected that after paying all special bequests there will be more than a half million left for each of the five heirs. The Gloucester says it is thought Mrs. Clark's one-fifth will be about $510,000.

Christmas Gifts to Widows.

The KENTUCKIAN invites each and every pastor in Hopkinsville and Christian county to send it the name of some poor and deserving widow in his congregation who is not a subscriber to and is unable to pay for the KENTUCKIAN, which should be a visitor in every home in Christian county. We will place such names upon our books and send them the paper during the year 1895 without cost to any one. If these practical "Christmas gifts" to the worthy poor brighten their homes and give them pleasure, we will feel amply repaid. This offer is a business proposition that means what it says. Ministers in charge of churches, send in the names at once, as the proposition will be open only one week, until January 1st.

Difficult Ends in Bloodshed.

A serious and what may prove fatal difficulty occurred near Adams Station, Tenn., seven miles south of Guthrie, Friday, between two farmers, Liphus Moore and Anderson Tow. In the fight which was ensued Tow was shot in the arm and side with a shot gun in the hands of Moore, at close range. After the shooting Moore then struck the wounded man with a heavy stick, breaking several of his ribs, causing internal injuries which will likely prove fatal. Tow is 65 years old and quite feeble, while Moore is only about 50 years old and is in robust health. Moore was bound over to the court.

Married in The Road.

James Chester and Miss Alice Lyle, daughter of Mr. E. B. Lyle, of Church Hill, were married in the public road near Mr. W. E. Adcock's last Tuesday. On account of parental objections, they met there by appointment and Rev. J. M. Joiner said the ceremony that made them one as they sat in a buggy. They then went to the home of the groom's father, near Bennettsburg.

A Christmas Donation.

The lofty spire of the Episcopal church, which is on the adjoining square to the Hotel Latham, is being repainted and gilded in a most attractive manner. It is understood that this is another evidence of the countless generosity of Mr. John C. Latham, he having ordered the bill, which will amount to $300, to be sent to him for settlement.

Robbed His Hen Roost.

Last Friday night chicken thieves entered Mr. A. W. Fyke's hen house and carried off about a dozen of his finest fowls. They only left behind two aged hens and an old rooster. Mr. Fyke lives on Main street, his property being well lighted by the electric lights, and the robbery was certainly a very bold one.

Saw Mill Man Killed.

Chas. Reed, employed at Mr. Thos. Harris' saw mill in Robertson county, Tenn., a few miles south of Guthrie, was killed with a horrible death one day last week. While adjusting a log on the carriage, Reed fell against the saw and one foot and both arms were cut off, causing death in a few hours.

FIRE AT LAFAYETTE.

The Healey House Narrowly Escapes Total Destruction.

Last Thursday evening about 7 o'clock the Lafayette hotel was discovered in flames and the building was badly damaged before the fire was brought under control. The fire originated in a rear room and the supposition is that a spark from the grate fell on the carpet, as a fire had just been started in the room a short while before the flames were discovered issuing from the ventilators on the roof. Water was scarce in the place, but the bucket brigade was promptly on hand with all the quenching fluid available and did fine service. The building is the property of Mr. Joseph Beazley and was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, with no insurance. Mrs. Maggie Phippen, who operates the hotel, suffered a loss of something over a hundred dollars. Mr. Walter Arthur, a boarder, in whose room the fire originated, lost everything in the way of clothing, etc., stored in the room, in fact was left without a change of clothing. His loss amounts to about $150. Neither Mrs. Phippen nor Mr. Arthur had any insurance, and their losses are also total. The building is a wood structure and the wonder is that it was not entirely destroyed, as the flames had gained such headway before they were discovered. W. T. Brann, marshal of the place, and Wm. Edwards, col., deserve special praise for their work on the occasion, as they fought the fire heroically, when the heat and smoke was so intense that it was almost unbearable and the house had been well nigh abandoned and given up as lost.

Gay South Christian.

The town of Lafayette will have several entertainments this week and the people of that place and vicinity will enjoy Christmas in old fashioned style. The first of the series of enjoyable affairs occurs this evening when a Christmas tree will be given under the management of Dr. Edwin Garner. Next in order will be a dance given by the young society people of the place at Purrell's Hall to-morrow evening. On Thursday the Masons will give an elegant dinner, and Friday night occurs a grand concert given in the Ragsdale tobacco factory by the Lafayette Silver Cornet band. It is needless to add that all of these occasions will be very enjoyable, as the people of that place never do things by halves, and the rule still holds good. On New Year's night another dance at the hall will start up the new year with the society people of that section. Several persons from this city have been invited to attend the various entertainments and the prospects are good for Hopkinsville to be well represented.

The Revival Closed.

The Baptist revival closed Sunday night after having been in progress two weeks. There were about 30 professions and restorations. On Sunday morning several united with the Baptist church and others have announced their intention of doing so. A large number of backsliders made confessions to the church and were received again into full fellowship. The closing service was held at the Tabernacle Sunday night, when Dr. Wharton preached his farewell sermon. This meeting, like all others, was largely attended.

Five Years Lease Closed.

Postmaster Wilgus has closed a lease of five years with Mr. John Mayson for the present postoffice building, and the office will remain in its present quarters until Oct. 1, 1899. This step has been taken by Mr. Wilgus after giving proper consideration to all of the locations proposed. The present station is centrally located, conveniently arranged and altogether desirable. After the holidays, the building will be rearranged, windows cut in the west side and various improvements added.

Dig Trout Catch.

While dragging a pond near Church Hill last week Mr. Monroe Gregory caught three trout, the total weight of which was twenty-five pounds. Several bushels of smaller fish were taken from the pond, which was stocked with trout, perch and cat fish several years ago.

FROM OVER THE SEA.

England has a woman recruiting sergeant in the person of Miss Gould of London.

Of the 35,293 recruits levied for the Bavarian army in 1893, only six were unable to read and write.

On the London, Dover and Chatham railroad, in England they use a hand-car which is propelled by means of a sail when the wind blows.

A theater manager in Madrid was fined heavily the other day by the chief of police because his performances advertised to begin at 5 were commonly delayed half an hour.

There was recently given in Berkshire, England, an instance of the remarkable decline in real estate in that country. A valuable estate which twenty years ago sold for $30,000 was bought for $5,500.

By the use of the submarine detector the Russian monitor Rusalka, which foundered with all hands on board a little over a year ago in a storm in the gulf of Finland, has been found in thirty fathoms of water.

Canals are now in general use throughout Australia. Within twenty-five years, by scientific breeding, a race has been produced larger in frame, sounder in wind and limb, and able to carry more weight than the Indian canoes originally imported.

One effect has come from the new tax on inheritances in England. Instead of bequests, gifts are being made while the donor is alive. Lord Ducie, for instance, has sent a check for $300 to the Gloucestershire Infirmary, saying that his will contained that bequest, but that he preferred to save the charges made by the state.

TALES THAT ARE TOLD.

Lee Zanders was taken before a New Hampshire court a few days ago charged with passing a counterfeit half dollar. He protested his innocence on the ground that the date of the coin, 1850, showed it could not have been in circulation so many years without being detected if it was counterfeit. The justice thought this a logical defense, and the prisoner was discharged. The half dollar was afterwards melted with the flame of a candle.

A friend of the Boston Traveller tells of an amusing incident which occurred recently in a public school in one of Boston's suburbs. The word "Jehovah" had come up during a lesson, and after explaining it the teacher called upon the pupils for some other expression referring to the Deity. There was a moment's silence, and then a small boy on the end seat raised his hand. "Well, Johnny," said the teacher. The boy was sure of his ground, and without hesitation he offered: "Holy Moses."

One of Milwaukee's big brewers was a law student in Judge Hubbard's office many years ago. Horatio Seymour came into the office one day and said to the youth as he sat reading: "Keep at it, my boy, read and study, study and read—that's the only way to become a lawyer. I read and studied law seventeen years before I felt competent to try a case." "Well, that settles it," said the youthful student. "If it took you seventeen years to learn the business, Governor Seymour, I'll quit right now before I waste any more time."

NOVEL CONTRIVANCES.

An odd steam engine built in 1705 still stands near Oldham, England. It. W. Wyatt, an Australian, has invented an attachment for a pool table consisting of inclined roads or tracks running beneath each pocket to the "spot" or 1 of the table in which roll the balls that fall into the pockets.

The vast herds of rabbits that were once regarded as a plague in Australia are being turned to profitable account. They are skinned and their carcasses frozen and shipped in refrigerators all over the world. The skins are used on a cheap grade of muffs and ear warmers.

Amsterdam will have next summer an international exhibition of hotel arrangements and accommodations for travelers. Among the features of the exhibition will be an "electric refrigerator" without ice, in which visitors will be served automatically with a complete dinner on pressing an electric button.

Electricity is rather curiously applied to a carriage built for the German emperor. It is provided with electric lamps, which contain small accumulators. One is placed on the breast of each horse, also on the point of each pole of the carriage, at the sides and at the rear of the vehicle. Thus distributed they will make the route straight as light as at noonday for a distance of about fifty paces from the equipment, while the vehicle itself, with its occupants, will remain in perfect darkness.

DESULTORY READING.

The New York Tribune came out first in April, 1841.

You are first cousins twice removed to your first cousin's grandchild. Grandchildren of first cousins are third cousins to one another, and your cousin's child is your first cousin once removed.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fenton of Warville, Tenn., are each six feet in height and their combined weight is 210 pounds. Their eldest son, Archibald, is five feet four and weighs within twelve pounds of his father and mother put together.

Joseph Grim of Hammononton, Pa., was riding along a country road recently on his bicycle when he was stopped by three highwaymen. They wanted his money, etc. He took his watch from his pocket, threw it several yards away, and, while the men were scrambling for it, he mounted his wheel and escaped.

GARNERED GRAINS.

From the time of Alexander the Great down to the time of Columbus, the average price of wheat was twenty-eight shillings a ton; from 1751 to 1800, the price averaged four times as much.

Dr. Rahon is publishing in Paris an interesting study about the size of the human body, which shows that the men and women of to-day are from one to two inches taller than our ancestors.

There is a curious area of a few acres in Chesapeake bay, above Crisfield, which is always disturbed, even in the calmest weather and when the surrounding water is still. It is called the Puppy Hole.

The greatest depth in which a ship has been anchored is 2,000 fathoms (considerably more than two miles). This was accomplished by the United States vessel Blake when employed on the work of charting the various ocean currents.

A singular case was that of a St. Louis drummer who came home and found his wife divorced from him in a suit of which neither had any knowledge. Of course, it was an error involving a similarity of names, and was easily rectified.

It is said that a week's work in Birmingham, England, comprises among its various results the fabrication of 14,000,000 pens, 6,000 bedsteads, 7,000 guns, 300,000 cut nails, 100,000 buttons, 1,000 saddles, 5,000 pairs of copper or bronze coins, 30,000 pairs of spectacles.

The sale of accordions in this country is steadily decreasing, other instruments taking their place, especially mandolins and guitars, of American manufacture. The present annual consumption in this country, exclusive of toy accordions, is estimated at 150,000. Accordions were made principally in Saxony, Germany.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

No man is any stronger than his weak side.

Every drunkard was once a moderate drinker.

The only thing that can really hurt any man or nation is sin.

Just as surely as there is sin in the heart there will be sin in the life.

Shadows have no claws, but they have frightened many people to death.

If some people had money enough they would eat themselves to death.

A genius is a man who does something that others say cannot be done.

The man who builds a house tells the whole neighborhood something about himself.

Men are made rich, not by what the world can give, but by what it can't take away.

Dyspepsia seldom causes death, but permits its victims to live on misery.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

If you want to find a pleasure greater than making money, try giving some of it away.

When it turns black everywhere else, you can find plenty of light by looking straight up.

Nobody wants to keep a runaway horse, but many keep a runaway temper and think nothing of it.

Talking about charity beginning at home, is one of the ways by which we can let people know that we have none.

Never fear to bring the sublimest motive to the smallest duty and the most infinite comfort to the smallest trouble.

Painting Arctic Scenes.

Some of the difficulties of painting art under disadvantageous circumstances were explained recently by Frank W. Stokes, who undertook to make a thorough study of arctic effects in connection with the Peary expedition. One of his best pictures, he said, would be a moonlight scene on the everlasting snows. To paint this he had to keep up a perpetual dance before his easel, making a few dashes with his brush and then shaking himself vigorously to save himself from being frozen. He declared the moonlight was the most gorgeous he had ever seen, being so brilliant that he could easily distinguish his colors, even though they were on the conventional dark palette.

A Novel Mustard Pot.

A new kind of mustard pot has been made that insures always having fresh mustard. It is the size of an ordinary mustard pot, and consists of two parts, in the lower half of which is placed the dry mustard, while in the neck of the upper part is a small container for the water necessary for mixing, together with a little screw, which, when turned by the consumer, allows the water to escape into the mustard below, the two being amalgamated by a turn or two of the screw. In this way a fresh supply for each meal can be obtained without waste or trouble, and as the pot can be taken in two in an instant, there is no difficulty about cleaning it.

"My dear," said the fond wife, "when we were engaged, I always slept with your last letter under my pillow." "And I," murmured her husband, "I, too, often went to sleep over your letters."

When Others Fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla builds the shattered system by giving vigorous action to the digestive organs, creating an appetite and purifying the blood. It is prepared by modern scientific methods, the greatest curative powers, and has the most wonderful record of actual cures of any medicine in existence. Take only Hood's.

Hood's PILLS are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or grip. 25c.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

The Chief Chemist of the Agricultural Department at Washington, backed by an intelligent jury at the Exposition, found it strongest in leavening power, peerless in its purity and beyond comparison in uniform excellence.

Received Highest Award At the World's Fair.

The award is a matter of official record. Nothing could settle so decisively the immeasurable superiority of Dr. Price's over all other powders as the great honor bestowed at Chicago.

HE WAS IN LUCK.

A Shot Which was as Successful as it was Accidental.

A Maine veteran of the Aroostook war tells a story of how good luck brought a poor marksman out of a bad scrape. Governor Fairfield visited Houlton and reviewed the troops stationed there as commander-in-chief, and, of course, it was the biggest kind of a military event. The Houlton rifle company had some crack shots in it, and as part of the exercises in honor of the governor's coming they were marched out for target practice. As they made some excellent hits, the figure of an Indian being a mark, the governor expressed his pleasure in their proficiency and said loud enough for the men to hear:

"Now, I would like to see your very best marksman try his skill."

In the company was a man noted for not being able to hit anything, and at once, in a spirit of dexterity, the cry ran along the line repeating the name in answer to the governor's call. Without blinking he stepped six paces to the front and saluted.

"Where do you want me to hit him, governor?" he asked with perfect composure.

At the bottom of his left ear, sir," said the chief magistrate, pointing at the mark.

"All right, sir." The soldier raised his gun, shut his eyes and turned his head away as usual and fired. The men were all on a broad grin at the great joke of the thing, but when the bullet struck the mark whittling off a piece of the Indian's left ear, there was a sort of surprise that could be heard all over the townships.

HISTORIC FAT WOMEN.

Celebrities Who Were More or Less Disposed to Emphatic.

From ancient, mediæval and modern history the following facts about fat women are gleaned. Agrippina, Nero's mother, was so fat that the serpent of the Nile, as Marc Anthony called her, was small and fat. Laura, Petrarch's muse, was fat, fair, with blond hair. The Marie Flammetta, whom Boccaccio loved intensely, was a brunette and fat, with thick red hair. Marguerite of Navarre was fat. All Raben's women, except the wife, were fat. All Titian's women, except the madonna, were fat. Catherine of Russia was tall and fat. Louis Brout, for whom Alexander di Medici died, was rather stout. Josephine Beauharnais, the infatuated Creole, afterward empress of the French, was fat and perfumed. Mme. Roland also. The unfortunate Marie Antoinette was tall of stature, majestic and fat. Mme. de Staël, small, dark and fat, with a small head. Georges Sand was fat at one end, but was fat and small. Heine said of her: "The build of her body has the appearance of being a little too fat, or, at least, a little too short, the head

HINTS TO CIGAR SMOKERS.

Always Blow the Dust, or Before Lighting a Fresh Weed.

"There are two things which all cigar smokers might observe with profit," said T. C. Brownie to a reporter. Mr. Brownie travels for a large cigar manufactory and knows a thing or two about the ethics of smoking. "Before lighting a cigar bite off the end, and place the end to be lighted between your lips, blow through it. In this way you get rid of a fine dust that accumulates in a cigar when it is dry, which is apt to inflame your vocal chords and injure your voice. It is a valuable hint for singers, and I know of quite a number of professional opera singers who never light a cigar until they have blown out its dust. To the failure to do this may be attributed in great part the throat diseases with which steady smokers are afflicted."

"Another valuable suggestion from an economic standpoint is to thrust your cigar into your vest pocket with the point end up. Many vest pockets are so shallow as to cause the end of a cigar to stick out over the edge. The constant rubbing of the coat against the large end, which is very much more susceptible than the small ones to it, to fray and break, necessitating the wearing of the wrapper in order to make the cigar available at all. Any one who will not do these two things will live longer and save money."

HOLIDAY EXCURSION RATES.

B. F. MITCHELL, G. P. A.

Mines of Wood.

A curious source of wealth is reported by the French consul at Mongtze, in upper Tonquin. It lies in wood mines. The wood originally was a pine forest, which the earth swallowed in some cataclysm. Some of the trees are a yard in diameter. They lie in a solid direction, and the top branches cover them to a depth of about eight yards. As the top branches are well preserved, it is thought the geological conclusion, which has led them to be of great antiquity. The wood furnished by these timber mines is imperishable, and the Chinese gladly buy it for coffins. Along the coast regions of some parts of New Jersey there are trunks of cypress trees, deeply buried in the sand, the recovery of which forms a valuable industry. Another being used for making shingles.

What He Wanted.

One evening, at a symphony rehearsal of the Melington orchestra, Bulow stopped the orchestra and exclaimed: "Kettle-drums forte!" The drummer, who thought he had done pretty well already, redoubled his efforts; but again Bulow stopped and shouted: "Kettle-drums forte!" Once more the drummer put on extra steam; and when Bulow stopped again, he exclaimed: "Really, Herr Kapellmeister, if I beat any harder I shall break the kettle-drums!" "What do you do to that?" retorted Bulow quietly: "You play fortissimo, and what I want is forte only!"

Corset for the Feet.

The latest atrocity in the interest of fashion is a corset for the foot. The new instrument of torture is made so as to enable a size smaller shoe to be worn than would be otherwise possible, and consists of a strong though thin band of web, which is fixed round the instep while the foot is off the ground. When it is in place it is comparatively easy to put on a shoe which is altogether too small, and the pressure being on the corset instead of the shoe, the latter does not stretch.

New Reading of an Old Saying.

"Tommy," said the teacher, "you may put in different language the proverb, 'Let us write the songs of my country and I care not who makes its laws.'" About fifteen minutes later Tommy handed in a paper bearing the words: "Let me give the laws of a country, and I don't care who has the pipes."

Voices of the Nations.

The Tartars are supposed to have, as a nation, the most powerful voices in the world. The German possess the loudest voices of any civilized people. The voices of both Japanese and Chinese are of a very low and feeble compass, and are probably the least powerful of any nation. Taken as a whole, Europeans have stronger, clearer and better voices than the inhabitants of the other continents.

Mrs. Carhart—Our acquaintance has been so short that I feel I ought to know more about you before I consent to leave your wife. Pelham Parker, still—Very well, I can refer you to any of the girls I have been engaged to.

They married a Western opportunist with due reverence, and the widow suggested as a suitable inscription on the tombstone, "His work is over." But the stonecutter thought that an orthographic error had been made, and that the inscription would read more appropriately, "His work was over."

A Philadelphia transportation company has secured judgment for $3,000,000 against the Pullman Palace Car Co. on account of a contract broken ten years ago.

Many of the State papers will miss an issue this week. It is needless to say that the KENTUCKIAN will appear regularly throughout the holiday season. It put aside the "time honored custom" several years ago.

The KENTUCKIAN to-day celebrates its sixteenth Christmas. Grateful for the past, satisfied with the present, and hopeful for the future, it extends the congratulations of the season to all its readers, this beautiful, joyous Christmas morning.

The Election Board yesterday decided the contest in the Longview magisterial district, giving Esq. Barker 50 majority. His majority of 72 was cut down by deciding to be void 18 votes stamped in the booth and 4 stamped at the table by the clerk, at the request of the voters. An appeal will be taken by Mr. Barker.

What would be a more appropriate or appreciated gift to an absent friend or relative than the KENTUCKIAN from now until next Christmas. Unlike any other present, it would from week to week be a constant and pleasant reminder of your thoughtful kindness and affectionate remembrance. Try this plan of making a sensible gift one time, instead of wasting your money on things that are forgotten in a week's time.

Metal Building Material.

It is well within the memory of many persons when metal as a building material was practically unknown. But within a few years building has been almost revolutionized by the use of metal in various forms and for various purposes. Iron beams, columns, girders, rafters and window casings have come into use, and now we are given as a regular addition to our list a great variety of stamped out sections. These have heretofore been made mostly of galvanized iron or some composition of the spelter sort, or in fine and high priced work, bronze has been used. Steel is, however, found to answer all demands far better than any other metal used for this purpose. Door and window casings will be made of metal, and, indeed, almost all parts of a house may be constructed of some form of steel work. With paper pulp doors and floors, metal frames and finish, slate or tin roofs and Portland cement or concrete walls, our houses may in time come to be actually fire proof, as they have for a long time unjustly claimed to be.

THE BALDHEADED CLUB

HIGHLY INTERESTING MEETING HELD SATURDAY NIGHT.

President Pyle Misses the Desk With His Gavel—A Secretary Elected—Proclamation appointed Christmas—The Carle Carey Plan the Subject of Discussion.

The club will please come to order if it can, if not I will see that order comes to it, said President Pyle, as he knocked vigorously on Col. Bonte's head, mistaking it for the marble slab of the desk in the dimly lighted room. Missing the slab before he had finished pounding it, the new president stopped long enough to adjust his spectacles and investigate its mysterious disappearance.

Col. Bonte rose to a question of personal privilege, and asked the president if he took his head to be a croquet ball; if not he would be pleased to have him use his mallet on the desk.

"Ah! I see," I must have reached too far in the arms of my spectators, said President Pyle, "your apology is accepted and as my gavel seems to have escaped without injury, we will proceed to business."

"I had intended," continued President Pyle, "to finish my inaugural address at this time, but as the key to the door is lost I will defer that formality until the door can be locked. I do not intend to be disturbed any more by members leaving the room in the midst of my remarks and when I start out to finish my speech I shall see that no member present at the beginning is deprived of the pleasure of hearing my oration."

"Spread the ballot for the election of a secretary."

Col. George H. Johnson moved that the committee on examination be directed to investigate the heads of all members present and report the name of the member afflicted with the least hair and that said member be thereupon declared elected secretary by acclamation. This motion was carried without a division.

It took the committee some time to perform this duty and in the meanwhile the club was entertained by some remarks from Col. Geo. L. Willis, a visiting brother from Frankfort, Ky.

The contest finally narrowed down to Col. Len McKee and Geo. Johnson. It was found necessary to count their lambs quins two or three times to decide, but Col. Johnson finally won by one hair.

This lead Col. Tom Williams to remark that his brother groceryman had made a hair-breadth escape from defeat.

President Pyle then read the following:

PROCLAMATION.

I, president of the Baldheaded Club, do hereby proclaim and set apart Tuesday, Dec. 25th, as a national Holiday to be known as Christmas. All members of the honorable Order of Knights of the Shining Path are hereby authorized and permitted to gather at their respective loafing places, and for one day make fools of themselves by yelling "Christmas Gift," at law abiding people.

Signed, A. W. PYLE.

By the President,

George H. Johnson, Secretary.

Col. Bonte was then called upon to make his promised explanation of the unneighborly conduct between China and Japan, but the Colonel explained that he had been too busy to go to Korea to investigate this matter and was granted further time.

The President then asked some of the more clear-headed members to give their views on the Carle Carey Curlew scheme.

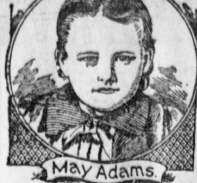

Col. Buck Leavell said he had read it and it was printed in clear, neat type. He read it without the least difficulty.

Col. Claggett said the paper he saw it in was printed in small type that hurt his eyes. He would have liked it better if it had been larger.

Col. Blakemore said he agreed with the Secretary about the advisability of having no bills smaller than $10. He hated small change and preferred a $100 bill to anything smaller.

Col. Bill Howell said he couldn't see that the Secretary suggested anything to add to the value of the dollar. What he wanted to see was a dollar with five quarters in it. If one of that kind could be found he didn't care whether it was made of gold, silver or bank notes.

Col. Walter Kelly said his paper

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. She had no diagram with it and he had not yet been able to cipher out what Mr. Carlisle was driving at. When he found out he would give him his information with the club.

Col. Green Champlin said he was free to confess that he didn't understand why Mr. Carlisle didn't want to make money on the Baltimore plan. As far as he was concerned, he would just as soon make it on the European plan if he could only make enough of it.

President Pyle said what the country needed most was a dollar that was self-collecting. Anybody could make a dollar, but collecting it was a very different thing. If Mr. Carlisle could devise a dollar that could collect itself he would write congress word to give him a plan. They concluded by thanking the financiers who had expressed their views for the light they had thrown upon the subject.

After the usual collection the President proceeded to prorogue the colonels.

Take Vitalin Liver Pills.

As a substitute for printing or the use of engraved rollers for producing figures or patterns on cloth, photography is coming into use, and promises much more satisfactory and artistic results than any process hitherto employed. The fabric is immersed in a vat of boiling liquid containing gelatin and salt, after which it is treated to a bath of 5 per cent of nitrate of soda made strong with sulphuric or hydrochloric acid. It is then thoroughly washed, and while still damp is exposed under negatives containing the desired designs. Half a minute's exposure to the clear, bright sunshine, or in cloudy weather, a longer exposure under the arc light, give the desired result. The clear, transparent development and fixing that brings out tints and tones that are unapproachable by any other method. A wide range of shades and colors is possible by this means. Red is produced by an alkaline solution of naphthol yellow by an alkaline solution of phenol brown of various shades by naphthol-sulphonic acid, and orange by resorcin. When one considers the resources of the photographer and the exquisite half-tones that are the charm of fine work, the application of this art to photographic printing is suggestive of gratifying results.

RAMELER.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for January, just out, is really a holiday number, with regard both to the character of its reading matter and its richness in illustration. The leading article, "St. Andrews and Andrew Lang," by Mrs. Leicester Addis, is a charming account of the university career and literary life of this versatile author, also of the quaint little Scotch city of his Alma Mater, where the now faddish game of golf has been played on its native links ever since the Middle Ages. Francis Smith gives a glimpse of "Miss Gould at Lyndhurst," illustrating the occupations and amusements of an American Chatelaine; and Francis Courtney Baylor contributes three suggestive chapters "On Entertaining." In the way of picturesque travel and exploration, there are "America's Egypt" (Yucatan), by Miss Le Plongeon; "Finland and the Finns," by Herman Montague Donner; and "A Dash Into Pangea Land," which is southeastern Florida. Lydia Hoyt Farmer contributes an interesting paper upon "Jerusalem in the First Century," and Charlotte McIlvaine Moore writes sympathetically of "Old Kentucky Homes." Chiming Bells," by S. H. Ferris, is a reasonable topic, thoroughly treated; and a full page engraving of Boutigny's picture of the death of Marshal Lannes, at the battle of Essling, furnishes the motive for some interesting historical pages about Napoleon and Alexander I. of Russia.

Demore's Magazine.

We all want to know how to make the New Year the happiest in our lives, and advice on the subject from "many men and many minds," will be found in a unique symposium on the subject by Col. Wm. M. Strong, Mayor of New York, Dr. A. Conan Doyle, Rev. Dr. S. Reynolds Hole, Rev. Dr. W. Talmage, Odette Tyler, and Nelson Wheatcroft, in Demore's Magazine for January. "The Emphasis of Japan" is a timely article, beautifully illustrated, helping us to understand the secret of the wonderful successes of the Japanese in the East. If there are any much talked about people whose picture you want, you are sure to find the best portrait extant in the Portrait Album of the current number of Demore's. The subscription price is $2 a year, and single numbers are only 20 cents. Published by W. Jennings Demore, 15 East 14th St., New York.

Christmas Number of the New York Ledger.

The Christmas number of the New York Ledger will be published December 22nd. It will be a beautiful and elaborate product of the printing press, a marvel of cheap printing. It will be sold for the regular price of five cents. It will have an illuminant of Christmas ever, with an exquisite winter scene, a beautiful girl returning over the snow from the woods with greens for Christmas decorations. The girl is a winner. In this number a new serial story, entitled "At a Great Cost," by the new and popular English author, Effie Adelaide Rowlands, is commenced. Mrs. Barr's delightful story "The Flower of Gala Water," is continued. It contains a portrait of General Booth as he appears on the platform, with an article on General Booth and the Salvation Army, several delightful Christmas poems, Christmas editorials, illustrated Christmas sketches and a Christmas story for the children, with all the usual interesting features of the Ledger, specially adapted for the Christmas season.

In addition to the attractions mentioned, the Christmas number of the Ledger will contain the continuation of George D. Gardner's wonderful story entitled "A Treasure Found—A Bride," with illustrations. Prof. Charles F. Holder contributes an interesting article on "Insect Mimics." Nataly von Echevritz contributes a novelette entitled "His First Order," which is also illustrated. Altogether, the Christmas number of the New York Ledger affords the biggest five cents worth of good reading in the market.

What They Say

These are a few simple statements about Dr. King's Royal German Salve. Mrs. E. J. McKee, Ugo, Hart county, Ky.: Used it in my family six years; one of the best medicines known. J. E. McKee, Ugo, Ky.: "Great remedy; nothing like it, or equal to it." Rev. H. R. Rivers, D. D., Louisville, Ky.: "Greatest of all remedies." $1; 6 for $5. For sale by all druggists.

One half the want is caused by people looking at this, that and the other, useful employment as not being genteel.

"How did Binklers so easily win Miss Coldcash's heart?" He sent her eighteen roses on her twenty-fifth birthday.

An eccentric Southern woman dated her will 1789 instead of 1889, but the court has decided that this does not impair its validity.

Mabel—How did you manage for partners at the hop? Flo—We dispensed with the music and danced with members of the orchestra.

A baby one day lately from its drunken mother, who was attempting to beat its brains out on the pavement.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Soldering Aluminum.

One of the drawbacks to the general use of aluminum has been the difficulty experienced in soldering it. Many persons have entirely failed in their attempts to unite aluminum and other metals or to join two pieces of aluminum.

A film or oxide formed upon the surface of the metal seems to be the cause of the non-adherence, and this ordinary methods have heretofore failed to remove. Recent experiments have brought out new methods, and a solder composed of fifty parts of tin, twenty-five of aluminum and twenty-five of silver makes a solder that has thus far worked admirably.

It is necessary to keep a clean metal surface, and this can be done by heating the aluminum to be united until the solder can be kept in a soft state for an instant after contact with the plates or sections. This causes a coating of the solder to adhere to the surface of the metal, and no further trouble is experienced. It has been suggested that the outside of aluminum articles that are to be put together should have a coating of this solder applied to their edges. If this were done, the difficulty would be removed, as the coating, already firmly fixed, would need no further preparation.

The new store, "THE LEADER" is now on Main street. In the building formerly occupied by the W. C. T. U. The ladies will find us on our new place ready for work and will be glad to see our many new friends and customers.

Our great CUT PRICE SALE still on.

Everything slashed and defy you to match the incomparable bargains we are offering.

Last week we said our goods must move, price was no object, it was not because we had too many, nor because we needed room, away with such old time chestnut reasons.

The TRUTH is Simply COMPLETION.

We are not afraid of the TRUTH or COMPLETION either. We claim our prices for equal value are 20 per cent. lower than the lowest.

If you don't investigate this you are throwing money away. Remember our goods are no cheap trash but such as are handled by first class houses. Everything new and fresh this season. We state this because the low prices mentioned may be mislaid.

I am . . .

Prepared to give the people some extra bargains; don't miss them. To one and all you are earnestly requested to call.

INTERESTING GOSSIP FOR FIRE-SIDE READING.

Some Sketches of Fashion's Dictates—Favorite Patterns for Hats—Fit for the Princess—Hints for the Kitchen and Parlor.

THE NEW YORK
girl is devoted to the stock. She wishes to wear
the bit of bright
velvet or soft crepe
has to do with the effect of her gown.
And she is buying stocks with a reeklessness that only a typical American girl can show.

At present every day brings with it a new stock. The demand is so great for these adjustable collars that one novelty fails before the other in its hurry to be a success.

The stock which has bravely held its own amid a crowd of novelties is made of a band of velvet and two portland loops at either side and a buckle in the center. These stocks also come in crepe de china, and soft rosettes give the place of the loops. They are made of striking colors like cerise,
Lincoln green and blue.

The very latest stock is simplicity itself. It is merely a broad plain band of satin ribbon, fastening at the back with a big butterfly bow. When made of some bright color it gives a stylish touch to a sombre waist. Another novelty is a combination of stock and stock. Crepe laid in narrow folds is used for the stock. To this is fastened two loops of crepe partially covered with lace.

There is a vast number of chiffon stocks displayed in the shop windows, and the daintiest one of all is made of a succession of fine chiffon rosettes.

The stock collars joined to a yoke are also seen in great variety. Many of the yokes are formed of deep Van Dyke points, while others are of chiffon frills and lace. The yoke Tailor made gowns are now worn with a chemise of soft plaited chiffon instead of one of stiff linen. Soft effects are all the vogue. Linen collars and shirt studs are losing their popularity.

Beef Steak and Oysters.
For a feast of from two to three pounds use a quart of oysters, from which all bits of shell have been carefully removed. Boil the steak without salting it, as quickly as possible, placing it close to a very hot fire, as soon as it is brown season with salt and pepper, put it on a hot platter and put over it the oysters. Lay on the oysters two tablespoonsful of butter, cut in half inch pieces, and put the dish into a very hot oven until the oysters are done, which will be as soon as their edges begin to curl. Serve the dish hot at once.

Baked Mushrooms.
Trim off the roots and imperfect parts of a quart of large mushrooms and wash them in plenty of cold water containing a tablespoonful of vinegar;
cut as many slices of bread free from crust, as will cover the bottom of a medium sized baking pan. Lay the mushrooms on the bread, sprinkle them with pepper and salt, put a small piece of butter on each one and at the pan in a hot oven for fifteen minutes.
Serve the mushrooms on toast, being careful that it does not burn.

This Is Imported.
Though the roughly woven fabrics
are all the rage this season, broadcloth is receiving its usual amount of patronage. Some years ago the gown of broadcloth was made severely plain.
This year it is trimmed as lavishly as any silk gown.

THREE FAVORITE PATTERNS.

A winter costume just imported is fashioned of heliotrope lightweight broadcloth. Around the bottom of the organdy skirt is a trimming of gulle-ture with the design outlined in jet.
The bodice is most elaborate. It is made of the broadcloth, with square-shaped revers of the jetted gulle-ture and a vest of pale blue cotton. The chif-fon is arranged like a double jabot and falls from a yoke of mauve colored velvet.

Cocount Pyramids.
Whip the whites of five eggs as for icing, add one pound of powdered sugar while doing this until it will stand alone, then beat in one cup of g-rated cocount. Shape into pyramids upon a dish and serve.

Hickory-Nut Macaroni.

To one and a half cupfuls of hickory-nut meats pounded fine add ground salspeter and nutmeg to taste. Make a frosting as for cakes, stir in the meats and spices. Flour the hands and roll the mixture into balls about the size of a nutmeg. Lay them on this well buttered, giving no tin to spread; bake in a quick oven. Use washed butter for greasing the tin, as lard or salt butter gives an unpleasant taste.

New Ribbons.

Among ribbons the striped taffetas are the latest novelty. Violet striped with fine lines of mauve and cream, lined with blue, are the newest. The wide pou de sole ribbons are very beautiful. They may be found in all the new shades. Satin ribbons, glistening with tiny jets, are also seen.

Fit For a Princess.

It took twenty-five yards of chiffon to make it and yet it was only a bodice after all. But such a bodice! It was more fit for a fairy princess than for a Jelastante. The chiffon was a delicate pink in color and laid in the finest plait in a square and over the shoulders formed a delicate cascade.
The neck was cut square and outlined by a soft fold of the chiffon, here and there caught in wee rosettes.

Nothing could be more graceful than the short sleeves. It was composed of fold after fold of chiffon, one fold peeping out from beneath the other. At the top of the sleeve was a large bow of pink satin ribbon with floating ends.
The little bodice fastened invisibly at the back. —New York World.

OF SILVER AND PINK.

Real Lace the Vogue.
If you own any real lace, now is the time to bring it forth. It is more popular than it has been in years. Next to point, lace is the most prized. Irish point and Point Venice are also valued.

For cloth gowns the coarse yellow
Point de Bruges lace is the vogue.

Fashion Notes.

A point that the average woman will do well to note is the choice of material for lining winter garments.
Three or four thicknesses of woolen material will not give the warmth that one experiences from one or two of thick, closely woven cotton. As an interlining for garments for severe weather, cotton flannel or denim of good quality, is unsurpassed. These materials are better than heavy linings, and they are less likely to be stained by the feeling of comfort one gets by their use. Next to them is some leather material, such as chamois or sheepskin. It is possible to buy for a very small sum sheepskin down sheepskin that is as soft and pliable as velvet. Those who have never used this as an interlining will be surprised at the perfect comfort and protection that it affords. There are persons who find it impossible to keep warm no matter what amount of wool material they put on. This may be a constitutional peculiarity, but, nevertheless, it exists, and is worthy of consideration.

In trimming waists it is desirable to put as little garniture across the lace between the shoulders as may be.
Especially is this necessary if one is inclined to stoop. The best way to put elaborate garniture on waists is to have them end at the back of the sleeves. They must be very full over the shoulders, but much less so across the front. Indeed, there should be just enough fullness to hang gracefully.
One third allowance is often too much for the best effects, unless the lace is very wide. Goods made into ruffles should be adjusted after the dress is put on. This saves a good deal of trouble, and produces much better effects.

The folded soft belt and collar are having a long season of popularity.
They are almost universally employed on dressy costumes, and are extremely becoming to all except very stout persons.

The present season is especially advantageous in the way of economy in dress. It is quite possible to use two partly worn dresses to make one good one. Combination has reached a fine art, and there is quite enough material going to waste in most homes to furnish charming costumes for home wear,
and possibly more dressy occasions.

Heavy fabrics for house wear are going altogether out of use. All the year round materials are much more serviceable, and are better liked by almost all women. The necessary warmth is made up by suitable underwear. Indeed, when one goes out, the long, heavy cloak is a necessity, especially for delicate persons.

Elaborateness seems to have run mad in some of the imported materials for outside garments. There are sleeves with puffs like the hennelons.
From these fall cape sections are cut to the coat itself.

Paquets of lace, jet, embroidery and passionnettes are in general use in good dresses.

ON AN IRONCLAD AT SEA.
Life on the Ocean Wave and Home on the Rolling Deep.
Admiral von Werner, a high authority in naval matters in Germany, describes in a work recently published the behavior of armor-plated men-of-war in heavy seas. He says: "Even with a moderate gale and sea an armor-plated cruiser, if going against the wind, will find herself in conditions similar to those of a storm—at least, the crew will have that impression. The movements of the stern of the ship are violent and exceedingly disagreeable. The waves pushed by the advancing prow sweep continually over the ship from bow to stern. All windows and port holes must be closed, and air reaches the lower decks, where the heat increases unbearably, only through the artificial ventilator. With the exception of the specially protected command bridge all the uncovered portions of the ship are impassable; thus the whole of the crew must huddle as well as they can the hell of the closed decks. On such a ship no one can feel comfortable;
and when there is a storm in which a sailing ship would feel comparatively at ease the crew of an armor-plated ship imagines itself to be in a heavy hurricane which threatens destruction at every minute. The long, narrow forepart of the ship, which is not borne lightly by the water, and is rendered extremely heavy by the mighty ram and the armored deck and the cannon and torpedoes, forces
the ship in a high sea to pitchings and rollings of such an extraordinary kind that they cannot be described.
The crew of such a ship is not only exposed to mortal dangers, but the voyages they make render them physically, extremely and dangerously nervous; the mental impressions they receive wear them out and make the profession hateful."

THEY ARE WELL "FIXED."
What the Comte de Paris Family Have Become Possessed Of.
The Comte de Paris was not stingy, but was fond of money. His view of his children was that without heaps of money and royal and princely titles their lot would be unbearable.
Between the dowries he could give and the importance the courts of Europe attach to him as a "legiti-mate" pretender, their matrimonial prospects were brilliant. The queen of Portugal was given $30,000 a year during her parents' lifetime. She will altogether have about $200,000 more. So will each of her sisters.
The youngest son was left the reversion of Villa Marmore, which is now worth $300,000 francs. The Comte de Paris must have been worth $325,000 a year, independently of what he had from the duchesse de Galliera.
He had a fourteenth part of the $5, 000,000 francs of appanages, and of "the Orleans debt" of 14,000,000
francs, which the Versailles assembly allowed to Louis Philippe's debt.
Of the uncle's and aunt's shares he and the due de Chartres had about $200,000 apiece, the arrears of their mother's dower income, which was secured on the Orleans estates. The duchess de Galliera gave about $200, 000 francs. A good deal of this was sunk in improvements of the Essaint Ambrose chateau and estates,
but very little of it was spent on political organizations.
The fortune of the Comte de Paris must be very great, but it has been kept "dark."

Herhardt's Dressmaker.
There is a modiste in Paris who owes the fortune she is making to Mme. Bernhardt. Her name is in the billboards, tray-trunks and handboxes, but she is known all over the professional and fashionable world as simply "Bernhardt's dressmaker." She picks her customers gets her own prices, charges like a body of cavalry in combat, and makes gowns, robes, wraps and those indescribable lace things collectively known as confections that are the envy or admiration of the gay world. She has a dozen American customers, a score or so of English patronesses and a hundred or more French women for whom she

DEATH OF MRS. RODMAN.

Wife of a Prominent Physician Passes Away Thursday.

After a long illness, Mrs. Henrietta Rodman, wife of Dr. James Rodman, died at 5 o'clock on the evening of Dec. 20. Though Mrs. Rodman's condition was such that her entire recovery was not regarded as probable, it was not thought that the end was so near. She had been critically ill for some days, but became so much better that her daughter had started to return home the day before and it was hoped that the sufferer would be given a new lease of life. But suddenly and without warning the fatal relapse came and in a few moments death's hand was laid upon her. Her disease was the supposed immediate cause of her death.

Mrs. Rodman was a native of Henry county, Ky., but for more than thirty years had resided with her husband in this city, most of the time at the asylum, of which Dr. Rodman was superintendent from 1863 to 1889. During all these years her life was a shining example of goodness and christianity. She was a consistent member of the Baptist church and was always ready to do her part in church duties and works of charity and benevolence. She will be missed by her church, missed by those who enjoyed her friendship and more than all will she be missed in the home circle her gentle presence blessed for nearly forty years. Mrs. Rodman was in the 64th year of her age. She leaves a devoted husband and two grief-stricken children. Mrs. W. H. H. Southard, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Thomas Rodman, of Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Southard was recalled by a telegram to Mt. Sterling and returned in time to attend her mother's funeral.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Saturday afternoon and were simple and brief, consisting of the reading of favorite verses of the deceased, marked in her own Bible, and singing and prayer. Rev. C. H. Nash conducted the services, which were concluded with a prayer by Dr. Wharton. A long procession of sorrowing friends then followed the body to the cemetery. The pall-bearers were Drs. B. F. Eager and T. W. Blakey, and Messrs. E. M. Plack, Nat Gaither, H. D. Wallace, W. T. Tandy, Ira L. Smith, Ben U. Campbell, Jno. B. Price, and Chas. M. Meacham.

A short service was held at the grave. A valued sepulcher had been prepared, which was sealed after the services were concluded. Many flowers remained until after the work was over to deposit flowers upon the new-made grave, that held the mortal remains of one of the best and noblest of women.

To Open January 3.

The date for the formal opening of Lord Latham is finally fixed. The reception in honor of the great work, held at a grand banquet, will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night, January 3. The invitations which have been issued in the name of the directors contain the names of the society-five or thirty ladies and gentlemen at the reception committee. Tickets are enclosed which must be presented at the door. On the following night there will be a ball under the management of the German Club of the city.

Simple Process for Bronzing Copper.

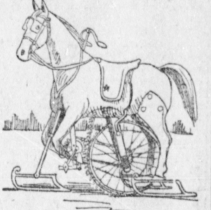

Mr. Monditt of Cam publishes a formula which is said to be capable of giving every tone from bronze to antique green, according to the length of time that the copper is allowed to remain in contact with the liquid. After the piece has been secured, it is covered with the following mixture by means of a brush:

Parts.
Snap.....	50
Alcohol.....	50
Soft soap.....	40
Water.....	40

The mixture is left on till the required shade is obtained, then dried with hot sawdust and coated with a very dilute varnish.

A Velocipede to Run on Snow and Ice.

This machine, patented by Mr. Sargent Young, is perfectly made in the form shown in the illustration, although its body may be constructed substantially the same as a safety bicycle. As shown, the front legs form hangers for the pedal shaft and the rear ones are detachable and each connected with a runner. The steering rod, with a handle bar on its upper end, passes through the front portion of the body, and its lower end secured to a runner. In a recess of the body above the pedal shaft is a vertical U shaped hanger adjustably secured to the front legs by screws passed through one of a series of holes whereby the height of the hanger is varied, and the hanger supports the pedal shaft, mounted in suitable boxes. The driving chain from this shaft extends backward over a sprocket wheel, connected with a big sprocket wheel journaled in vertically moving slides which project up into the body of the machine, the large wheel carrying a spur chain adapted to contact with the snow or ice. The slide frames are carried by a slotted pipe in the under side of the body, and the spur chain runs over a sprocket wheel on a shaft journaled in vertically adjustable boxes in the upper ends of the slides, the latter resting on springs which also support a portion of the saddle. Connected also with the slides are rods which extend upward on opposite sides of the body and terminate beneath the rear end of the saddle. Chains connect the rear runners with the front ones—Scientific American.

THE ICE VELOCIPED.

The Pains of Rheumatism According to the best authorities, originate in a morbid condition of the blood. Lactic acid, caused by the decomposition of the gelatinous and albuminous tissues, circulates through the blood and attacks the fibrous tissue, particularly in the joints, and thus causes the local manifestations of the disease. The joints and the shoulders are the parts usually affected by rheumatism, and the joints at the knees, ankles, hips and wrists are also sometimes attacked. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism. It has had remarkable success in curing the most severe cases. The secret of its success lies in the fact that it attacks at once the cause of the disease by neutralizing the lactic acid and purifying the blood, as well as strengthening every function of the body.

Any Lee, now starring with Frank Donne and P. Aug. Anderson in "Paw Tipton 210," is the daughter of Rose and Harry Watkins, whose names were household words in the south where they started for so many years, with their own company, "Little Amy," playing the child's parts in their various productions. They retired from the stage a little over ten years ago and resided in their old home in 23rd street, New York City, until the time of Mr. Watkins' sudden demise of heart failure last February. Miss Amy's mother is now traveling with the company and playing also, in order to be with her daughter. The former "Queen Star of the South" will be happy to revive old and delightful memories and meet her many dear southern friends of former days. Friday, December 23th, at opera house.
